How can I request data from different servers in a batch (multiple request/response)? A: A couple of options, I like neither. WebClient has an overload to GetStringAsync that returns an asynchronous equivalent of GetString. So, you could change your code to this: var wc = new WebClient(); var s = await wc.DownloadStringTaskAsync(new Uri("")); WebClient can also be made to use multiple URLs at once. For example, you could use that to make multiple requests at once: var wc = new WebClient(); foreach(var result in new[] { "", "" }) { Console.WriteLine(await wc.DownloadStringTaskAsync(new Uri(result))); } Or, you could simply write your own worker function to make multiple requests at once, using the same pattern as the WebClient.DownloadStringTaskAsync overload. Q: Can a side effect of a form action be another form in the same document? Say I have a form that looks like this f678ea9f9e
